Executive Sponsorship of the Save the Sea Monkeys Foundation

Executive Sponsorship is an honor, as you are doing your civic duty to provide opportunities for creatures to learn and grow, regardless of their small size. As a member of corporate America, raising your Sea Monkeys in your executive environment will allow them to explore their higher intelligence and thus contribute to your workplace success in the process.

What does an Executive Sponsorship mean to me?

As an Executive Sponsor of the Save the Sea Monkeys Foundation, you will receive the following benefits:

- An Executive Sea Monkey Kit
- Recognition of your business from our other valued sponsors on their web site
- A printable sponsorship card, available on our website home page at www.SaveTheSeaMonkeys.org.
- A place in history with other American executives who also recognize the value of this philanthropic venture

What do I have to do?

You must enter to win your Executive Sea Monkeys Kit on our website to be considered for Executive Sponsorship. As a valued sponsor, your level of participation is up to you. Should you decide to bring life to your Sea Monkey executive colony, there are downloadable documents such as Feeding and Care instructions and FAQs available as downloads on our website at www.SaveTheSeaMonkeys.org.

The need is now

Sea monkeys are suffering from misconceptions that they are simply fun-loving disposable pets incapable of offering more than mail-ordered aquatic amusement. These beliefs all too often doom Sea Monkeys to ride out their existence forgotten in children's bedroom closets, hidden behind old sweat-shirts and the very comic books from which they were ordered.

A Foundation for Change: Save the Sea Monkeys

Recently, concerned civically minded citizens formed a coalition dedicated to debunking the myth that Sea Monkeys are just brainless brine shrimp. After extensive research, it was discovered that Sea Monkeys are actually highly intelligent creatures with a mental capacity far exceeding traditional estimation. They possess business acumen well beyond a typical human business school graduate and were found to exponentially thrive in a corporate setting.

The Save the Sea Monkeys Foundation makes it our mission to further their fulfilling existence by placing as many Sea Monkeys as possible into executive environments across America, where their true intelligence can finally be realized.
